Whatever some shallow persons may say, it is very certain that full confidence in commerce can never be restored till a resumption takes place. The exports of specie now made to England, with the rise in the cotton market, and the crop yet to be shipped, will be sufficient to liquidate our debt there for the present. We pay a part—let them wait for the rest. There is yet here immense quantities of specie floating about, and if congress would create a bank of fifty or one handred millions, one quarter of the stock to be paid in specie, the institution could be set in operation in three months. The last Bank of the United States had to import specie at a loss to go into operation—not so now, if congress would give us another bank.

We have the elements of a high prosperity among us, if we had the sense, discretion and coolness to use them in a proper way and for a proper purpose.

NEW YORK, June 2, P. M.—Business has been very still to-day; transactions out doors have been slight. Cotton remains without any change since our last, and flour has been statu quo better for the markets than was anticipated, and all tend very much to brighten up the trade of this city. We hope so. The much to highly state of the model, and on near-ty every slip is printed, business is at a stand—trade is inactive. Inactivity continues to prevail in our market.

Cotton-The market has been quiet the last week, any material change in prices. Sales of the week ending teday have been about 4500 bales, at prices from 7½ to 11c. Very small sales under &c. Our present average quatations are from

Although our markets continue to be abundantly supplied with all kinds of authors meat and vegetables, the prices of these articles are exorbitantly high when compared with the rates of other cities. In New Orleans, for instance, where provisions are general double what they are in New York, pork was selling on the 18th alt at the cents a normal. Here it is they were at the same period last year, and greatly above what they sell at in neighboring cities. The true cause of these un-principled exactions, is the existence of the numerous forestallers and bucksters that infest our markets, who are allowed by our public authorities to continue their depredations on the community, although numerous laws exist for their suppres-We have persons appointed, called " Clerks of the Mar kets," whose duty it is to see these laws enforced, but we never hear of their doing any thing to remedy the evil. If these officers were appointed directly by the people, instead of the Corporation, we should find a very different result. Our quo-

Ship Foundered at Sea.—Advices arrived at Philadelphia on the 1st inst., stating that the British bark Britamia, from Bristol, England, laden with railroad iron, and bound to Wilmington, Delaware, had foundered at sea. The crew were taken up by another vessel, and landed in Cuba.

Philadelphia, June 1.—On Wednesday night, about 9 o'clock, the steambout Pennsylvania, Captain Rutherford, when off Thompson's Point, run down the schooner First Gensul, and sunk her. The captain and crew were saved with difficulty.

Wreck.—The bark George & Henry, Willson, from Balti-nore, for Rouerdam, reports the following: On Sunday, March 12, in lat. 48,05, N., lon. 20,24, W., at I P. M., saw a wreck on the starboard bow, bearing S. E. by the compass; her appear-ance was that of a brig of about 200 tons, with her foremast, foretopmast and bowsprit standing, with her topsail yards across; no one-on board. Her stern was stove in, and the remainder of her-spars, with her upper deck, and cargo from between decks, were all gone. She appeared English built, and was no doubt from some port in North America, with a cargo arrived here in an open boat, after a perilous voyage of four days, from the Grand Cayenne, distant about 90 leagues from Trinidad. [Part of the crew of the chip Star, lost on the Grand Cayenne, before zientioned.] Nine of the crew still remain there, preferring the chances of an occasional British vessel for a passage either to England or the United States, to the risk of the voyage undertaken and exceuted by the above seamen.

Brig James McColeb, arrived on Thursday at this port, has brought home three seamen, formerly of brig Edward, of Port-land—they are in irons for mutinous conduct.

Bixtraordinary Phenomenon.

ONE OF THE GREATEST NATURAL CURESSITIES EVER EXHIBITED in this city, or any other part of the World.—BARTOLO, a boy of 9 years of age, enjoying, in every respect, perfect health, presents to the curione anditothe scientific the most extraordinary case of hydrocephulossever seen or beard of. This child's bead, although regular in its features and natural functions, far surpasses, in size and buik, any thing of the kind that can be conceived of in the human species. However, Bartolo was born in the Island of Porto Rico, and nothing was remarkable in his birth but his being twin-brother of a girl who died from a fall when two years eld, and who also had an enormous head, daily increasing in size, and exhibiting the same symptoms as that of her brother Bartolo.

This great natural curiosity will be exhibited to the public every evening from 4j to 10, at No. 3 Barclay street, near Astor's Hotel.

Admission, 25 cents each. Children under 10 years 12j cents.
